Richmond Markets, August 10. GENERAL REMARKS -- We have to report a further advance in Bacon. Holders are very frm looking forward to a further improvement is prices. Sales have been made in Baltimore, we see, for September delivery, at 1 cent above present rates, and a considerable lot of Sides is seld here at the same traction above our quotation, to-day. Corn is firm, and the market rather buoyant. Fish have declined. Flour quiet. Plaster is lower. Sugars held firmly. Domestic Liquors advanced Tobacco declined, exvery dry and sultry, causing much anxiety in tegard to the corn crop There are indications of rain to day, which we hope, will not prove deceptive. The early importations of goods for the fall trade are beginning to arrive.

Fredericksburg Market.

We have attentively examined the samples of wheat lying on the counters of our merchant millers, and are free to say that the condition of the wheat is as good as we have ever seen whilst the quality is far better than had been medicted before threshing. In quantity, though, there is a great deficiency. As far as our examinations have gone, we have seen no wheat in bad condition, whilst a majority of the sam ples have shown the weight equal to the stand-ard-60 lbs. to the bushel. Indeed much of it tas gone beyond this, and we have heard of red wheat going to 60 ], and white to 62 lbs. On Monday, the market was lively, and sales good white made at $1.40; red $1.25@$1.30. Yesterday, prices receded slightly, and we hear of sales of white at $1.35. Our quotations are not fancy, but from transactions .- Fred

There was a large number in attendance to assist the Committee in clearing the ground, and they succeeded in erecting the seats and Preacher's S:and. Over forty tent locations were selected by ballot. It is expected that over one hundred will be erected. Parties desirous of erecting as to avoid, as far as possible, the interrup-

BRUTAL MURDER IN NORTH CAROLINA .-A gentleman from North Carolina has furnished the Petersburg Express the following. On Tuesday, the 3rd instant, Mr. Jacob D. Robbins of Wilson county, as was his usual custom, left his father's residence a little after sun-down to go to his own house some three quarters of a mile distant. Failing to appear Wedue day, his friends became uneasy, and going to his house, instituted search for him, but he could not be found nor could anything be ascertained of his whereabouts. Suspecting that he bad been murdered, the neighbors turned out, and diligent search of the entire section was made. Thursday morning, no traces of the body baying been discovered, three of the servants owned by the young man's father, were seized and lodged in jail, upon suspicion. One of the negroes had blood upon his shirt, for which he could not satisfactorily account. bday was very large, the offerings at the two and this circumstance aroused still stronger suspicion that the unfortunate young man had been foully dealt with.

Search was continued until Sunday morning, without avail, when a flock of bezzardwere seen hovering over a branch, about a half mile distant from young R bbins' residence The party proceeded to the spot, where they discovered the remains buried in a hole about two feet deep.

The coroner being sent for, an inquest was held, and the negroes examined. The boy Jim, who had the blood on his shirt, finally confessed that he committed the foul deed, and buried the body unaided by any one .--He said his young master gave him a blow with a stick, which be returned with an axe, felling him to the earth. He then repeated the blows upon his young master's prostrate body, until life became extinct; and to conceal his crime, dragged the corpse to the branch, dog a hole, and buried it. The jury rendered lears and 3 months. This affliction will a verdiet in accordance with the foregoing facts, and committed the murderer for trial.

A BASE AND MALICIOUS SLANDER .- A few days since, upon our knowledge of Mr. John A. Washington's character, we denounced the absurdity and falsity of a rumor that he designed removing the remains of Washington from the tomb, prior to tratsferring Mount Vernon to the Ladies of the Union. We are now enabled to stamp the whole story as an outrageous falsehood, by quoting the following conclusive extract from the contract between Mr. Washington and the Ladies: "And that the said vault, the remains in an around it, and the enclosure, shall never be removed or disturbed; and that no other persons hereafter shall ever be interred or entombed within the said vault or enclosure." -Rich. Enq.
